IT Specialist for Spain Home Office

We are looking for a qualified IT Specialist for hands-on, implementing and managing healthcare Information System's deployment in Spanish hospital environments.

Fleischhacker is highly specialized and innovative in developing software for cardiac applications. Our software MediConnect® is a fully integrated solution that follows a holistic approach for the healthcare provision. It is designed to manage clinical processes and can be used for the preparation, presentation, communication and archiving of patient and study data. MediConnect® is in use in more than 20 university hospitals throughout Spain. Our head office is in Schwerte, Germany.

Our offer:

- Through on-the-job training, further qualification and ongoing support from your colleagues in Germany and Singapore
- Home-office
- Diversified work patterns, sole responsibility
- A company car with allowance for private use
- Attractive compensation package

Your tasks:

- Installation planning and preparation of MediConnect® Information System in hospitals in Spain
- Software installation and implementation enabling full interoperability of modalities and clinical information systems
- Ongoing customer support, remote and on-site
- Configure interoperability jobs to and from the hospital corporate systems
- Drive user acceptance testing, implement on-site, train users
- Monitor systems functionality and connectivity and consistent deployment of the entire solution both on human and technical side.

Your Profile should therefore be:

- Degree in computer science, IT or similar qualification.
- Ideally, profound knowledge of IT system structures, including SQL and MS.NET framework.
- Experience with Interoperability engines such as Mirth Connect®.
- Knowledge of Hospital Information Systems environment and departmental IT solutions, including hospital IT system interoperability (HL7) and Diagnostic modality integration (DICOM).
- Excellent organizational skills and experiences in project management are appreciated.
- Competence in customer care and support
- Spanish and English speaking (minimum). German recommended.

We are looking very much forward to your application. Please, send your CV by email to josef.lauter@fleischhacker.biz.
